

I support the ARRL's position for eliminating the novice subbands and allowing more phone area. The recent developments in digital technology prove that no more space is required for digital operation (e.g. PSK-31) yet there has been no effective way to reduce the bandwidth of a phone signal.